

Devoid of Love

*the night falls as if slain by the sun, cold and alone are we.
the understanding for which you sacrifice yourself
flares once, then dies,
smothered by a velvet ebon nothingness.
all hope must sicken and die.*

*your heart desires no more.
how could you not understand?
shadows surround us, crying,
we have lost our light.*

*alone,
we cry for soulmate lost,
alone*